

Shipwreck Debate Questions

Scenario	Your Viewpoint	Opposing Viewpoint
Over 100 years ago one of your ancestors found some gold jewelry on the beach believed to belong to the wreck of the Camilla. The law is now saying you cannot keep them.
You wish to photograph a wrecked ship in your local area for a newspaper article but you are not allowed to because it contains the remains of deceased people and must be left alone.
You bought some old coins at an antique shop many years ago. Now it is believed to have been looted from a wrecked ship and must be given back to the Government.
You wish to dive near a known wreck near your home because you are interested in archaeology but have been told you can only look at it from 800 metres away.		